

Réseau canadien du patrimoine juif

BERNE, Dr. Eric & CANADIAN JEWISH WOMEN ARTISTS.

<https://www.cjhn.ca/fr/permalink/cjhn283>

Collection: BERNE, Dr. Eric & CANADIAN JEWISH WOMEN ARTISTS.

Niveau de description: Fonds

Collation: 0.03 metres of textual records. - 8 books. - 1 photograph. - 6 sound elements.

Portée et contenu:

6 cassettes of interviews by Judy King, with Regina Seiden Goldberg, Sylvia Ary, Ghitta Caiserman, and Marian Wagschal, done between 1979-1988. For Dr. Eric Berne (born E. Lennard Bernstein); 8 books, 2 folders of clippings, correspondence with Dr. Ortenberg, early published articles. 1 family photo.

Dates ultimes: 1935-1988.

No du fonds: P0182

Notice biographique
/ histoire
administrative:

Judy King is the granddaughter of Reuben Brainin and daughter of Dr. Ortenberg, a close friend and mentor of his medical school classmate Eric Lennard Bernstein, who later took the name Eric Berne. Eric Berne was the originator of "transactional analysis" and wrote Games People Play. Judy King, a sculptor, knew most of Montreal's Jewish artists and therefore was able to interview these four in depth. The interviews were for an intended publication, which was not carried out.

Histoire de la conservation: The collection was donated by Judy King.

Notes:

Alpha-numeric designations :P01/09, ZB.

Archives / Archival Descriptions

Généalogie:

Dépôt d'archives: Canadian Jewish Archives